COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

SATURDAY EVENING, Nov. 15, 1879.

THE Banks and most of the offices having been closed during the past three days for the Dewali holidays we have necessarily but a limited extent of business to report upon. From this time forward, however, we ought to see a steady increase in the extent of trade passing through the port; not perhaps in Exports for a few weeks yet, as it will be close on the end of the year before any weight of produce begins actually to arrive; but Imports ought to improve rapidly, as the transactions on Dewali day were large, giving every indication that a more active demand is now expected. Up-country accounts, too, continue most satisfactory, and from all we can learn the cold weather grain and seed crops are having a most excellent start.

MONEY.—The last published statement of the Bank of Bombay for the week ending on 8th instant was again devoid of any changes of importance, an increase of about 10½ lacs in the Government balance being met by nearly an equivalent increase in the trade demand. We may now, however, look for a steady enlargement in trade requirements; and although at the moment the market is easy, and in Calcutta the directors of the Bank of Bengal reduced their rates of discount one per cent. all round last Wednesday, we cannot expect to see Money at its present level of 3 to 4 per cent., much longer.

EXCHANGE.—Transactions in Sterling have of course been greatly curtailed by the holidays, but during the first two days of the week a considerable extent of business was done. The market for the Mail opened on Tuesday morning with a strong upward tendency owing to a rise of ¼d. per oz. in Bar Silver in London, coupled with very firm telegraphic advices from both China and Calcutta. An advance of ¼d. per Rupee was established on the closing quotations for last steamer, and for the moment a further rise seemed highly probable. Silver, however, did not move to anything like the same extent, and on Wednesday a weaker feeling was apparent with a decline 1-16d., closing quotations before the holidays being:—Bank Bills on demand 1s. 8 13-16d.; 3 months' 1s. 8 15-16d.; Credits, 3 months' 1s. 9¼d.: Documents, 3 months' 1s. 9 3-16d. per Rupee. We must, however, anticipate rates opening on Monday at a decline of something like 3-16d. from this level, as Council drafts instead of bringing 1s. 8¾d. to 13/16d. as was generally expected, barely realised an average of 1s. 8¾d., while tenders at 1s. 8¼d. received a fifth of the amounts applied for. In sympathy with this result, Bar Silver in London receded on Thursday from 53¾d. to 53¼d.—at which the Rupee lays down at 1s. 8¼d.—and on Friday Reuter says was unquotable, whatever that may mean. The recent speculative attempt to force up rates has thus evidently broken down for the time being, and it seems not unlikely that we may settle down for a while to a level of about 1s. 8¾d. per Rupee for demand Bank Bills; although there is no diminution in the general confidence shown in a material rise taking place later in the season.

GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.—In the early part of the week a fair demand prevailed, and rates advanced to Rs. 93¾ for Fours and Rs. 101½ for Fours-and-a-half, but closing quotations on Wednesday were Rs. 93¼ and Rs. 101⅛ respectively. Since then the London quotations have receded from £80 to £79-5 for Fours, and from £87-10 to £87-5 for Fours-and-a-half, so that we may look for re-opening to a decline.

SHARES.—The Market has been closed for the holidays since last Mail day, and the only alterations we make in our list of quotations are i—an advance of ¾ per cent. in Bank of Bombay, which now stand at Rs. 667½; an advance of Rs. 3 in Frere Land; a decline of Rs. 5 in Oriental Spinning, and an advance of Rs. 10 per share in Khandeish.

PIECE GOODS.—The rapid rise in Exchange in the early part of the week induced a considerable amount of business to arrive on a sterling basis, but in the banker next to nothing was done until Dewali day, when buyers inaugurated the commencement of the new business year with the usual Dewali bargains. On this occasion these have been much larger in extent than for some years past, the transactions in Grey Goods alone being estimated at about 2,500 packages; and, as this is generally accepted as a fair index to the probable character of the up-country demand for the season, we may take it that there is every likelihood of a much larger offtake than for some seasons past. Prices are steady and practically unchanged on the week. Stocks have slightly increased of late, but the consumption should now be able to cope with very liberal supplies.

TWIST.—Transactions in English Yarns have been limited, but stocks are moderate and prices well maintained. In Local Yarns there is a fair business doing, and rates are a trifle firmer.

METALS.—Copper. The operations of late have been on a small scale, but stocks being light prices are As. 4 to As. 8 per cwt. higher. Yellow Metal is in less request and As. 4 per cwt. lower. In Iron there has been very little doing of late, and notwithstanding firm accounts from Home, and moderate stocks here, prices have receded As. 4 to Re. 1 per candy.

COALS.—Up to the close of business for the holidays there was a fair demand for ready parcels at about previous rates, but to arrive the market has been depressed by steamer cargoes being offered at a reduction of As. 8 to As. 12 per ton from previous prices. The only transaction of any importance which has transpired during the week is the sale of a November December sailing cargo of Davison's West Hartley by steamer at Rs. 20¾ per ton alongside. There are now sellers of Novr. at the same rate, Decr. at Rs. 20¼.

COTTON.—The active character of the Liverpool advices this week has induced a much firmer tone here, and notwithstanding the holidays a considerable business has been done, at an advance in prices of Re. 1 to Rs. 2 per candy in Old and Rs. 5 to Rs. 7 per candy in New Cotton, at which the market closes firm with more buyers than sellers.

The purchases reported during the week comprise about 4,000 bales Old for export and 2,500 for local consumption, and about 2,500 bales New Cotton for export.

The receipts from up-country to date show the following comparisons:—

	1879.	1878.	1877.
For the Week	4,554	3,818	6,956
Since 1st Sept.	63,454	31,145	26,751
Since 1st January	829,324	889,546	1,011,930

The Clearances for Sea since the departure of last Mail have been 4,084 bales, making 629,087 bales since 1st January against 727,741 bales for the corresponding period last year.

NEW CROP.—The report of the Commissioner of the Hyderabad Assigned Districts on the Berar Crop has been published, in which the land under Cotton this year is estimated at 46,000 acres, or about 2½ per cent. less than last year, but the probable yield at something like 25,000 bales more than the previous season. This, however, is decidedly less favourable than private reports from the same district, which, although less flourishing than formerly, still put the outturn at a higher figure. In the Berars picking has not yet become general, and it is evident we shall have very little Omrawuttee in before the end of the year, but of Hinguughaut arrivals are expected to commence in another fortnight. The first samples of both descriptions are good in staple and colour, but are slightly deteriorated by dark leaf and stain, which, however, will probably disappear with the first few thousand bales. Meanwhile the highest class of Omra which sellers will contract for December delivery is F.G.F. From Broach and Dhollera the reports continue very promising, and both descriptions will probably be in full crop as well as a large yield.

The following are to-day's quotations for Fully-pressed Cotton with the equivalents in Sterling, cost, and Freight to Liverpool via Canal without commission:—

Owing to the figures having been omitted in transmission, we are unable to give our usual comparison of the visible supply for all Europe; but we subjoin the figures for the U. K. only. The most noticeable feature is the reduction during the week of 10,000 bales in the stock of Surats, which now only stands at 62,000 bales, and as the shipments hence up to the end of the year must be insignificant we may look for the figures are long running into very small compass.

The American crop figures to date give the undernoted comparisons with the two previous seasons. The total receipts to date show an increase of 324,000 bales over last season; but notwithstanding this, we do not hear there is any tendency at home to increase crop estimates.

SEEDS.—Linseed has been in active request throughout, and supplies being somewhat larger a fair business has been done for export at Rs. 7 to Rs. 7 2 per cwt. In Rapeseed there is nothing doing, and prices are nominally the same, say Rs. 6 to Rs 6-5 for Cawnpore and Rs. 6-6 to 6 8 for Gujarat. Gingelly is now arriving more freely, but the demand is active, and, previous enhanced prices are maintained, say Rs. 44 to Rs. 44½ for small White and Rs.43 to Rs. 43½ for Mixed per candy.

WHEAT.—Notwithstanding dull advices from Home there are still active buyers at Rs. 41½ to Rs. 42 for Best White. Supplies are rather more liberal.

The Bombay Gazette

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1879.

A CORRESPONDENT writing to an up-country contemporary on army organization, although he advances little that is new, still, in one of his letters makes one remark that invites discussion, because it discloses in a military sense a monstrous abuse. The paragraph referred to runs as follows:—"Officers commanding companies and "squadrons to be responsible in reality, not "nominally, for the drill and training as well "as discipline and interior economy of their respective commands ought not to be unnecessarily interfered with in the exercise of "their duties. On the other hand, commanding "officers should be allowed a freer scope in their "important office." Now, we venture to say that, if the above paragraph was officially issued by the Commander-in-Chief in India to the three armies, instead of being as it is, the mere expression of opinion of an anonymous correspondent, the native army would be fifty per cent the better for it. Only those who have studied the interior economy of a native regiment under the average commander, can know how much reason there is for an ordinance of the kind. We believe it is not too much to say that in some regiments of the native army, the authority of the wing commanders and of the company commanders is cheapened to the most dangerous extent, and by those whose first duty it ought to be to support it—the commandiug officer and his staff. The real discipline and good of the service are often forgotten in the silly desire of some commandants, their quarter-masters, and adjutants to ape the higher positions of general officers and their staff. We were once told by the wing commander of a native regiment that his duties consisted of answering "dockets" drafted by the adjutant and the quarter-master of the regiment, signed "by order," and referring to every conceivable and inconceivable triviality which could enter the heads of those officers. The power of the wing commander over his men he defined as absolutely nil. Any exercise of authority on his part, even in the merest

All money, lands, &c., belonging to the men hanged, and to those who took part against us, is confiscated. The fugitives will never be allowed to return. (By Red Sea Cable.)

THE DUKE OF ARGYLL ON THE POLICY OF THE GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, Nov. 15.

In a speech made by the Duke of Argyll at Leeds yesterday, he said he was opposed to a policy of absolute non-intervention, but would refuse to allow Russia to take Afghanistan. Russia was unable to attack India without the aid of Persia. He denied that the war with Afghanistan was owing to the reception of a Russian mission at Kabul, and said that the British Government had all along determined to quarrel with the Amir Shere Ali. He characterised the Afghan policy of the Government as cruel and base, and gave it as his opinion that the massacre of the British Embassy at Kabul was due to the persistent obstinacy of the Government. In conclusion he said that the whole policy of the Government had been attended with failure in Europe and dishonour in Asia.

SPEECH BY MR. FORSTER AT LEEDS.

Mr. Forster, M. P., also made a speech at Leeds yesterday, in which he said that it would be impossible to keep British troops in Afghanistan without annexing that country. The real danger, he said, to India was not the approach of Russia, but the burden of taxation and the discontent engendered thereby. He deprecated burdening India with the cost of the Afghan war.

THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN SQUADRON.

The Times publishes a paragraph, stating that no instructions have been sent to Admiral Hornby to move the Mediterranean Squadron eastward on the 16th instant as was previously asserted.

THE RUSSIAN EXPEDITION AGAINST THE TURCOMANS.

General Tergukasoff has returned to Tchikislar. Scurvy is prevalent among the Russian troops composing the Tekke-Turcoman expedition.

LECTURES BY DR. HUNTER AT EDINBURGH.

LONDON, Nov. 15.

Dr. Hunter has delivered two lectures in Edinburgh, in the course of which he said that the benefits arising from British rule in India were the redeeming of the country from anarchy and barbarism, securing peace, developing trade, industry, education and local self-government. Such results as these prove the injustice and partiality of those who saw nothing in India but the defects of British administration.

Dr. Hunter urged a further recognition of natives not only in the administration of the country, but also in a political direction, and he hoped the time would come when there would be a representative council of natives in India who would assist the Viceroy like the present Viceregal Council.

STEAMER REPORT.

GALLE, Nov. 16, 9-30 A.M.

Mail steamer Peshawur from Bombay arrived.

THE Secretary to the Chamber of Commerce favours us with the following telegram, reporting on the state of the cotton crop in the Berars, from the Commissioner H. A. D., dated Amraoti, 15th inst., circulated for the information of the members of the Chamber:—"Cotton picking commenced. Prospects good."

HIS EXCELLENCY the Viceroy will hold a levée at Calcutta on Friday, the 19th December; and a drawing room will be held in the first week of January, on the return of His Excellency and Lady Lytton from their projected visit to Darjeeling.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Lahore paper in the Kurrum Valley writes under date Nov. 7, that orders have been issued for the immediate construction of hutting accommodation at various stations in the valley from Shalufzan to Shinak. At Shalufzan palatial barracks are in process of very rapid construction, saying much for the working capabilities of the engineer in charge. Kurrum and Budesh Kheyl among other places are to be occupied; and there is talk of a tramway from Thull to Kurrum.

A TELEGRAM to the Allahabad paper, dated Kandahar, 12th November, states:—The Governor of Bombay has just arrived under a salute. His Excellency left Chaman yesterday morning, and rode 50 miles to Takht-i-pul where he was met by Major St. John and Major Chapman, Assistant Quartermaster General, accompanied by the grandson of the Sirdar Shere Ali Khan. They left Takht-i-pul this morning, and arrived at 1 o'clock. General Stewart and his staff met His Excellency outside the city, through which they rode to cantonments. Major Rivett-Carnac alone is with the Governor, whose stay is not expected to exceed two days.

THE "Report of the Licence Tax operations" in the Dehra Doon district states that "the tea industry did not bring in so much as Mr. Ross (the Superintendent) anticipated, most of the tea companies proving by their books that they were working at a loss."

(FROM THE PRESS COMMISSIONER.)

REGARDING a paragraph which appears in its special telegrams from Kabul, complaining that General Roberts has not been given local rank, and that in consequence there is some danger of matters going wrong regarding the opening up of the Kabul-Khyber communications, the Pioneer writes:—"The difficulty about the advance of General Bright to meet Sir Frederick Roberts should be smoothed away as soon as possible. Anything that may even seem like a want of harmony and cohesion in our operations beyond the frontier is to be deprecated; we want no repetition of the disagreement between Generals Nott and Pollock. The Khyber communications with Kabul must be opened at once, there has been too much delay already; and if to prevent further delay, it should be found needful to make Sir Frederick Roberts an archbishop or even a member of the Viceroy's Legislative Council, the appointment should be gazetted without hesitation. It seems curious that there should be the slightest opening for doubt as to the limits of Sir Frederick's power in Afghanistan; but though the omission to give him local rank is to be marvelled at and deplored, it can still be remedied, and that quickly."

WITH reference to the commissariat arrangements for the field force in the Naga Hills, Lieutenant Wingate has been appointed Commissariat officer. The Indian Daily News hears that about 1,200 troops, besides camp-followers, have been assembled in the hills, and supplies have been furnished from the Calcutta Executive Office and from the nearest stations. A number of elephants have been despatched from the Dacca kheddah for transport purposes. A coolie corps, if necessary, will be raised locally, viz, at Golaghat, under the orders of the Brigadier-General commanding the eastern frontier. Lieutenant Wingate, with his office establishment, left Calcutta on the 8th instant for Goalundo.

THE Allahabad paper urges the desirability of a change of policy in dealing with the Nagas, arguing that it has been closely proved over and over again that it is a mistake for Government to "prescribe kindness and soft words in preference to the more successful mode of taming savages." Our contemporary adds:—"A wild man is little removed from a wild animal; and would the Secretary of State for India enter the tiger's cage in the Zoological Gardens with the skin of an ox? If he think it advisable, let him do so, and doubtless he will experience the same feeling he imposes, unwillingly be it hoped, upon the official selected for the appointment of the Political Officer in the Naga Hills in Assam. If Captains Butler and Holcombe, and Messrs. Carnegy and Damant, could now give their opinions to the India Office, sufficient evidence might be afforded to convince Government and its advisers that they ought now to work upon a new plan. It may be true that when one man goes, another comes forward; but will he continue to the crack of doom. But no amount of praise in the local Gazette,—no amount of regret, sincere though it may be, expressed in the Imperial Gazette,—will restore to life the unfortunate victims to this policy. The whole influence of public opinion should be exerted to induce a more satisfactory mode of dealing with these uncivilized Nagas. The system of extreme clemency has failed; let one better suited to the emergency be now applied."

THE Bengal Government have determined upon blowing up the wreck of the Queen Anne, which lies in the Hoogly between Fisherman's Point and Fulta. On Monday morning last the torpedo-boat Leopard was despatched to the scene of the wreck with all necessary appliances and men for the work.

A STATUE of the late Raja Kali Krishna Bahadur, which was on the way to Calcutta in the Hindustan, has been seriously damaged. The Madras Mail says:—"We were informed this morning that a fine marble statue of the late Lord Mayo had been recovered from the wreck of the Hindustan, and that it might be seen headless, lying on the Madras Pier. Having taken the trouble to examine the statue, we have discovered that it is not a portrait in marble of Lord Mayo, but of some distinguished native. The head was unfortunately knocked off in the wreck, but has been preserved. It is the head of an intelligent-looking man, the features being more like those of a European than a Hindu. A small muslin turban on the top of the head and the short moustache sufficiently proclaim the nationality. The body of the statue is in a large wooden case, and a fine granite pedestal stands by its side. We could distinguish enough of the figure to see that it was in a sitting position, with a pencil in the right hand, as if writing. A necklace of beads was round the neck, and several medals and orders on the breast."

AT a general court-martial at Dinapore on the 24th ult., Private Samuel Wardeman, of the 65th Regt. of Foot, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude on two charges of insubordination and of using threatening language to an escort.

HERE is the latest from the benighted Presidency, via Allahabad:—A terrific fit of economy in trifles has of late seized upon the Madras Government. The Duke, it appears, has come down upon the annas with a heavy hand, and the savings thus scraped together already amount to nearly one hundred rupees. This admirable policy obviously merits the approbation of every true reformer. Amongst the extravagancies of the Southern Presidency, that of using the telegraph wires unnecessarily has excited His Grace's severe condemnation. All persons who have authority to despatch "service" telegrams have accordingly been cautioned in caustic "P. G." to take heed lest they offend again. The telegraph is not to be resorted to except in cases of downright emergency, and then infinite ingenuity is to be practised in the curtailment of redundant phraseology. It is to be definitely understood that long messages regarding the forwarding of fish and ice, the securing of apartments at hotels, the obtaining of leave, &c., &c., must on no account be charged to the State. Now, among the many people in the world who may fairly be deemed blameworthy for absurd carelessness in the use of the telegraph, the government of His Grace of Buckingham have long been unrivalled. The heads of departments under their control have absolutely groaned under the oppression of frequent and unnecessary telegrams. So, when the "P. G." was circulated, there was much unseemly laughter in the benighted city, and conversation turned upon the impradence of throwing stones when the persons who indulge in that pastime reside in glass-houses. It remained to be seen how mighty Dracon himself would teach his senators wisdom, and his underlings that brevity which all admit to be the soul of telegraphy. An opportunity presented itself immediately, which every official in Madras has laid to heart. Two sergeants of the Sappers were required, it happened, for signalling work with one of the columns serving in Afghanistan. Here was a case of "downright emergency;" a telegram was accordingly despatched from the Government at Ootacamund to a gallant Colonel of Engineers at Madras thus tersely worded:—

"Send two Sergeants to Afghanistan."

Sorely perplexed, the Colonel was forced to telegraph:—

"To what part of Afghanistan."

and was thus answered:—

"To Peshawur."

A NEEDLESS and, in any other Presidency than Madras, unintelligible waste of public revenue, remarks the Lahore paper, has been for many years incurred owing to the neglect of the Government to survey and re-settle the wealthy province of Tanjore. It is the garden of Southern Indian; its wealth has been steadily increasing for a century; and its inhabitants are among the most prosperous proprietors and cultivators in India. Yet its revenue assessment has been allowed, partly, we believe, through the influence of its leading magnates with the authorities at Madras, to remain, decade after decade, unaltered, and is now about £200,000 a year below the standard at which, at the normal assessment of the Presidency, it ought to stand. To leave the wealthiest class of the people almost untaxed, and increase the burthens borne by the very poorest, is a financial policy which neither statesmanship nor humanity will sanction. The Madras Board of Revenue, we understand, recommend the Settlement, and state that an increase of from 19 to 20 lakhs might be expected. The proposal has reached that most dreary of official sepulchres, the Duke of Buckingham's pigeon hole, and there we suppose it will remain. At a moment, however, when every rupee is of importance, and useful schemes are being postponed all over the country on account of the absolute inability of Government to find the cost for their execution, we think it is hardly probable that the Viceroy will allow so large a portion of the proper revenues of the province to remain uncollected. The money thus obtained would pay for the new scheme of commissioners and collectors half-a-dozen times over.

THE Englishman writes of the new Indian Factories Bill:—"Though some of its details challenge criticism, we think it will be generally admitted that, if there was to be any legislation for the portection of factory labourers in India, it could hardly have assumed a more moderate or less obtrusive shape than the Bill published in Saturday's Gazette. In preparing it, the Government has, it will be seen, wisely abstained from any attempt to force upon adult labourers, under the guise of protection, regulations which would really have operated as a serious restriction on their voluntary industry. The only justification that can be pleaded for such regulations in England, viz., that terms which are nominally voluntary are rendered by the intensity of competition virtually compulsory, has no existence in India, where the labourer is as free in practice as in theory. Children not being free agents, but at the mercy of parents, who are liable, from selfish motives, to abuse their authority, their case stands on a different footing; and we are not of opinion that the Bill, in regulating their hours of labour, goes beyond what the dictates of humanity require."

IT appears from the Church Missionary Intelligencer for October that the difficulties in Ceylon between Bishop Copleston and the Committee of the Church Missionary Society seem further from settlement than ever. The Guardian, in its issue of September 3rd, severely censures the church missionaries for their "indefensible conduct" in refusing to attend the Bishop's Communion service, and the Society for not chronicling in their Church Missionary Intelligencer for July, "one word of grateful acknowledgment of the charity and forbearance of the Bishop, or one expression of regret for the indefensible conduct of the missionaries." The Bishop, it appears, is firm in his desire "to substitute a parochial system" for the race division and virtual congregationalism which still prevails, and which the Society desires to perpetuate, and that in this he will carry every one with him, except the missionaries and the committee of the Church Missionary Society. The Bishop, it appears, still declines to licence three new men sent out to the mission last autumn, and protests against their remaining in the diocese. He further refuses to admit to holy order any one who is a member of the Church Missionary Society.

WE would warn our Volunteers that their brethren in arms of Madras are diligently practising for the team matches which are to be competed for next month, under the auspices of the Northern India Rifle Association. The teams to represent the different companies of the Madras Volunteer Guards have been chosen, and are undergoing regular drill. On Thursday, the team of No. 6 Company were shooting, when one of the men, in spite of a high wind, scored 85 out of the possible 105. We believe nothing has been done yet, even in the way of choosing the teams, in Bombay.

THE Indian Daily News informs us that the Army and Navy Gazette is a "little brother" of the Pioneer, and is published at Lahore,—information which will be new to the leading London military journal.

IT is stated that one of the steps contemplated by the Madras Government in the reduction of expenditure is the curtailment of the establishments which are taken up to Ootacamund annually. The strength will be reduced to one-half of what it now is.

THE thanks of the Governments of India and Bengal have been forwarded by telegram to the Dhaka Nawabs, Abdul Gani and Ashadulla, for having, as soon as they heard of the Naga outbreak, placed their steamer and elephants at the disposal of Government. Fourteen elephants have been accepted and sent to the front, but the services of the steamer were not required.

WITH the exception that rain was wanted in most parts of Orissa and in part of the Bankura district, the prospects of the crops throughout Bengal, according to the official reports for the week ended the 8th inst., continue very good. The cyclone in the sub-division of Cox's Bazaar is reported to have damaged about four annas of an otherwise bumper rice crop.

THE Bishop of Calcutta is expected to arrive in Bombay on the 5th December and to remain here till the 10th, when he will go to Nassik, Ahmednagar and Poona, returning here on the 22nd, and leaving again on the 27th, for Mangalore.

A CURIOUS charge is brought against the late Officiating Resident at Mandalay by the Rangoon correspondent of a contemporary. He says (quoting a gentleman who accompanied the Embassy staff in their flight):—"Mr. St. Barbe was decidedly unpopular amongst the Burmese, chiefly on account of a very fierce bulldog which usually accompanied him, which he ventured outside the Residency, but which said bulldog hardly ever left the compound without killing a pariah or two during his perambulations. Now the Buddhist Code entails a very great reverence for animal life, and nowhere in the East are pariahs more petted or pampered than in Burma, yet the very time when Mr. St. Barbe was chased into the Residency by a crowd of native roughs, the fault was his own, for on that occasion, his dog added insult to injury by killing the pariah pet of a Punghyee priest, a dirty cur very likely, but none the less an animal which the Burmans hold to be sacred." This information has been corroborated in part by a letter in the local Times from their Mandalay correspondent.

THE following severe condemnation of the Licence-tax system is from the pen of Mr. Carmichael, a member of the Board of Revenue, North-Western Provinces, and appears in his report on the working of the Act for the year 1878-79:—"The Junior Member cannot sufficiently condemn the entrusting the primary preparation of such lists to the subordinate tahsil officials, and still more the allowing such officials, as also kanungos and naib-tahsildars, to hold local inquiries into objections preliminary to their final disposal by the Collector. It may be confidently affirmed, from our knowledge of native character, that if the kanungos and naib-tahsildars were forbidden, as they were, to have any hand in the preparation of the original lists, they amply compensated themselves afterwards when holding the local inquiries they were empowered by the Collector to hold in certain classes of cases; while the subordinate tahsil officials as certainly took money both to exclude names from the list, as also hereafter to submit favourable reports on those who objected to their assessments. The Junior Member has never read of an arrangement which gave better opportunities for bribery and corruption on the part of the native subordinate staff."

ON the whole the Licence-tax has brought in, during the last year, less revenue to the N. W. Provinces' coffers than it should have done. From every district nearly, even from some which Government admits have been over-assessed, comes the same story that collections "have fallen short of detailed district estimates." They are one or two solitary instances, however, in which expectations have been more than realised and chief of these is that of the Dehra Doon district where the actual collections have exceeded estimates. This is accounted for in the following statement made by the Superintendent of the District who, the Indian Herald remarks, "has adopted a course so palpably unfair that we are surprised that it has not brought upon him the censure of Government. This is the plan Mr. Ross adopted, and we quote his own words:—'I knew every one would object, no matter how fairly assessed and, as a native always feels pleased if he succeds in getting off something, I assessed the most a little higher than I intended to realize, so that when they objected I let off this amount, and the objectors went away happy.' In a manner approving of the course Mr. Ross adopted, the Board of Revnue states that 'this provision was certainly in consonance with native ideas.'"

COLONEL TRENT, 68th Foot, has been placed on half-pay and goes home, having completed his five years' tenure of command.

PROSPECTS at the Coorg coffee plantations are reported to be very good. A correspondent writes to a Madras paper:—"We have now arrived at the close of what has been a most propitious monsoon, and the quickly reddening berries warn the planter that it is high time he had an eye to his pulping machinery, and got everything in readiness for the ingathering of what gives every prospect of being a plenteous crop. In the earlier districts, picking has already commenced, but it will be some time yet before the country generally is in 'full swing' with this absorbingly interesting work. The crop has been rather earlier than usual, and the prolonged rains, though doubtless most beneficial to the coffee, have lent a corresponding impulse to the weeds; and to those who are at all short-handed the all-important work of picking will monopolize labour sorely needed for other purposes. On the whole, however, what with extraordinary assistance from coast contractors, etc., the work, as a rule, is pretty well forward."

AN up-country paper notes that eight sales of Bengal opium and seven months' pass duty on Malwa have brought into the Government treasury Rs. 62,70,574 more than the estimate.

IT is presumed by a Calcutta paper that either Colonel Brander, Deputy Commissary-General, Upper Circle, now on privilege leave, or Colonel Keer, of the Calcutta Executive Office, will succeed Colonel Sibley, Deputy Commissary-General, Lower or Presidency Circle, proceeding on two years' furlough.

SOME of the Calcutta papers are complaining of the appointment of Mr. Geo. Batten, "Personal Assistant to the Viceroy." The Indian Daily News writes on the subject:—"One of our contemporaries, we see, is anxious to know what are the functions of a Personal Assistant to the Viceroy, and with reference to Mr. Batten's nomination to that post, he deplores the appointment as furnishing a very bad precedent, or at any rate it would be a bad one if any Viceroy should think of following an example set by Lord Lytton, not an unlikely thing according to our contemporary. What Mr. Batten's precise functions may be as Personal Assistant, we do not know; but we believe that, so far from creating a precedent the appointment follows one. For a time during the famine in Madras, Sir Steuart Bayley filled the office of Personal Assistant, the reason assigned for the nomination being that Colonel Colley, the Private Secretary, had his hands full of the regular work of his office, and that the additional labour imposed on the Viceroy personally by the famine and the incapacity of the Madras Government to deal with it, made a Personal Assistant indispensable. We presume that, substituting the words 'Afghan campaign' for 'Madras famine,' similar reasons will be assigned now, and we may all rejoice that such an excellent selection has been made for the post of Deputy Viceroy. Incidentally, it may be noted that, as Mr. Batten's substantive appointment as Commissioner of the Salt Department is still filled by another gentleman, Colonel Sir George Colley's return to his duties as Private Secretary would be attended with the inconvenient effect of causing certain unwelcome transfers and changes, or of making a reduction in Mr. Batten's emoluments, if some arrangement had not been made of the kind, which has roused the scorn and wrath of our easily excited contemporary. Mr. Batten's re-nomination to the Legislative Council, which he resigned when he took up Colonel Colley's place, gives him an additional Rs. 10,000 per annum, and his place as Personal Assistant we don't know how much more. He gains by the arrangement, and no doubt so does the Viceroy, who can hardly go wrong when he has Mr. A. C. Lyall, C.B., to carry out his ideas on foreign policy, Sir George Colley, K.C.S.I., C.M.G., to carry out his plans of military operations, and the Hon'ble George Batten to carry out in all other directions His Excellency's ideas of the highest order of statesmanship. We present these views of the arrangement to our contemporary in the hope that they will be as acceptable to him as the arrangement itself is to the gentlemen concerned in it."

THE Rangoon Review is informed that "an extra burst of barbarity and bloodshed showed itself in the palace after the departure from Mandalay of our representative and the closing of the Residency. Among the victims who have fallen since that time is the sixteen-year old wife of Kyoungwon, the favourite Woon of the king. The female was lately nurse to the young son of the king, the newly-nominated Ain-shay-min."

THE last received Rangoon papers tell us that there has been a great improvement in the trade with Upper Burma, large quantities of piece goods having been shipped by the flotilla steamers. Our preventive officers accompany the steamers as usual beyond the frontier, but the Burmese authorities take no notice of them.

THE ladies of Madras, writes the "benighted" correspondent of the Allahabad journal, have been talking of two things during the past week—the wreck of the Hindustan, and the approaching wedding at Government House. The former is, of course, an awfully sad subject, for sundry boxes of delicious apparel, eagerly looked for to meet the demands of the coming season, have, it is feared, been hopelessly damaged. No pecuniary compensation, of course, can now atone for the loss of these pretty frocks and heavenly bonnets; for long before London modistes can comply with a fresh order, the effervescence of our gaiety will have expended itself, and wearied beauty will be sighing for the breezes of the hills. Miss Gore-Langton's marriage, on the other hand, is the theme of much sweet prattle: "wherewithal shall we be clothed?"—is naturally the question of the hour and ces dames whose boxes have not been consigned to the unlucky Hindustan, are able to plume themselves complacently in happy anticipation of the purple and fine linen in which they will appear on the festa dies.

ANOTHER harmless and familiar delusion has been ruthlessly swept away by the restless broom of scientific investigation. The tub of Diogenes, so graphically depicted by Busch in his inimitable "Bilderbogen," has been relegated to the dismal limbo of discredited myths. Diogenes, so we are sternly informed by German archæologists, never lived in a tub at all. The illustrious stoic resided in a jar—a sort of overgrown earthenware pitcher without a handle. Careless translators, who have recklessly rendered the Greek word for "winejar" by the comparatively modern substantive "tub," are responsible for the error in which humanity has been unwittingly plunged for ever so many hundreds of years. Pliny assures his readers, ancient and modern, that tubs are of Gallic origin. Diogenes is in luck—nothing about them. The Greeks kept their wine in jars, frequently bottomless, and thrust into the soil of their cellar floors, so that the liquor poured into them might not dribble out through inequalities in the lower rim of the amphora. It was in one of these bottomless pitchers that Diogenes took up his abode. Placed upon its side, he slept in it; sat upright, he walked about in it. There is monumental evidence extant to the fact that he chose for his dwelling a cracked and chipped jar, unfit for liquor-containing purposes, being prompted to this selection by his hatred of anything like luxury or wastefulness. In certain districts of Brazil, the aborigines formerly buried their dead in jars exactly similar to Diogenes' earthenware freehold; and these quaint coffins are still not unfrequently found containing mummified bodies of priests and warriors with their ornaments and arms, under the giant trees on the banks of the Parahba, where abide the Coreades, a civilised Indian tribe.

PARSEE CIVIL SERVANTS.—If Bengal has contributed Civil Servants to Bombay, Bombay in her turn is sending the most distinguished of her youth to Bengal in the like capacity. Amongst the recent arrivals at Bombay from England we notice the name of Mr. Kavasjee Jamasjee Badshah, the first Parsee Civil Servant appointed to the Lower Provinces. Mr. Badshah is the second Parsee who has entered the Civil Service of India; the first was Mr. Curgoojee Rustomjee, who heads the list of the year 1876 in the North-Western Provinces, and who has been recently appointed Officiating Joint Magistrate, and is now stationed at Ghazipore. The latter gentleman, the new member of service was born in 1857, and was educated at the Elphinstone School and Elphinstone College, Bombay. Having successfully passed the first examination in Arts of the Bombay University he proceeded to England in 1875, and in 1877 passed the Civil Service examination, standing 69th on the list. At the final examination the other day, Mr. Badshah obtained two prizes of £50 each—one for high proficiency in political economy, and the other for high proficiency in Bengali. The example of Messrs. Rustomjee and Badshah will not be without its effect on the Parsee youth, and therefore Bengal had better look to her laurels.—Indian Daily News.

THE RUMPA REBELLION.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Madras Athenæum writes from Rajahmundry, under date November 9, as follows:—

You will have seen by my telegram that the noted leader Ammal Reddy was never killed, notwithstanding all the reports, but was captured by Mr. Sweet, Superintendent of Police. The take was very cleverly effected. Receiving information that the man was sleeping in his village, Mr. Sweet proceeded at night with a party of the 29th N. I.; they first met a sentry who had been placed to give warning of any advance of our party: him they surrounded with fixed bayonets and bound, and then quietly marched into the village and effected the capture of Ammal Reddy, his first lieutenant, and six others. Jumma Reddy is in treaty with our people to deliver up Taman Dora, on condition of his own life being spared, but I have not heard whether these conditions have been assented to. The Contingent Cavalry under Captain Hamilton were very near taking Chendria, but somehow he always manages to get off—by the skin of his teeth as it were—but owing to the judicious disposition of the different detachments by Colonel Buck, it is not possible that he can be long at liberty, unless he manages to get away from these regions altogether. As there are four months' supply of provisions at Wudagudlem, steamers will only run fortnightly now, or as they are required. The different regiments composing this force are the 5th, 10th, 17th and 29th Regts. N. I.; the 1st Regt. H. H. the Nizam's L. I., the 3rd Regt. Hyderabad Contingent and a squadron of Contingent Cavalry. I don't know the exact number of men out, but I am not wrong in saying that the total sick exceeds seven hundred in the four Madras regiments alone.

Mr. Foster has sentenced three rebels to transportation for life, and I suppose that fate awaits Ammal Reddy, as he is only a five hundred rupee wallah, that being the reward advertised for his capture.

Everybody is very glad that the luck has fallen to Mr. Sweet, as he has been out the whole time, and has done a deal of hard work, and gone through a tremendous amount of exposure.

When Chendria is captured the affair may be considered over, but in all probability a considerable part of the force will be kept out for some months until tranquility is entirely restored.

DACOITY WITH LOSS OF LIFE IN THE MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

NEWS has reached us that on the night of Tuesday last, a very audacious dacoity took place at Salem, almost within the Municipal limits. A group of two or three huts, standing only a few yards north of the house of the Superintendent of the Jail, and immediately opposite the house of the Sessions Judge, was attacked by dacoits, and one old man was killed outright and two other men dangerously wounded. What booty the dacoits hoped to get at those huts, or what they actually did get, is not certain. But being the night following market day, they may have expected to find the proceeds of things sold in the market. Such an attack, so near the town and in the immediate vicinity of European houses, is alarming, and has made the courage of the neighbouring ryots ooze out at their fingers' ends. The dacoits have not yet been caught.—Madras Athenæum.

THE MADRAS RAILWAY ACCIDENT.

THE following is the decision of the Magistrate of North Arcot in the inquiry into the causes of the late railway accident:—

From W. S. Whiteside, Esq., District Magistrate, North Arcot, to A. M. Saunders, Esq., Agent and Manager, Madras Railway Company.

Sir,—I have the honor to inform you that my finding upon the evidence recorded at the enquiry recently held by me at Arconam into the wreck of the mail train on the line between Arconam and Chinnamapett on the morning of the 31st ultimo, is to the effect that the said accident was caused by a serious slip of the embankment on the north side of the line, and which occurred, in all probability, at the exact moment the train arrived at the spot. I find that this slip resulted from gradual saturation of the embankment caused by the heavy and almost continuous rains that fell throughout the month of October, and the excessive moisture remained in the embankment in the absence of means for its discharge such as were constructed last year in the adjacent miles, its presence being unnoticed by the officers in charge of this section of the line.

2. I am not of opinion that any neglect of duty has been proved against the watchman Munisppa Reddi within whose beat the accident occurred.

3. I am now submitting to Government copies of the record of my enquiry, together with my report thereon.—I have, &c.,

W. S. WHITESIDE,
District Magistrate.

North Arcot District Magistrate's Office, Chittoor, Nov 10.

THE WRECK OF THE LADY BELHAVEN.

IT is said that before this vessel was put up to public auction and sold to the highest bidder, the insurers in England had sent out instructions to Captain Burns, late Commander of the City of Manchester, who was in Calcutta at the time, not to abandon the vessel, but to try to get her out. Captain Burns, after proceeding down to the Argo Flats and holding a survey, telegraphed to the insurers that, having regard to the then state of the weather it would be a rather risky speculation to get the wreck off, but if she continued in the same position until the cold weather had set in, the cost of floating and bringing her down to Calcutta would amount to £35,000. At the same time he informed them of a letter of the many great difficulties he had in procuring the necessary appliances in Calcutta to float the vessel, and which would have to be procured from elsewhere at considerable cost. If the vessel could be saved, the insurers would not suffer any loss, as after paying the expenses, as the cargo, which principally, if not entirely, consisted of railway sleepers, was valued at a lakh and a half. The sum for which the vessel was insured was £21,000, the ship and the cargo were both considerably above that amount. The insurers, however, were told by nautical men in England who were acquainted with the navigation of the Hooghly, that it would be a matter of impossibility to get the ship off and the result would be that a good deal of money would be thrown away fruitlessly. Captain Burns' plan was to have used air pumps, but these would have to be procured from England. Final instructions having been received to sell the wreck, she was purchased by Mr. Jenkinson, a wealthy native, who, having the means and not the appliances, had entered into an arrangement with Messrs. Simpson and Co. to give them two annas in the rupee out of the profits if they could recover the wreck, the expenses being borne by the Baboo. Messrs. Simpson & Co. have excellent opportunities of floating the vessel now that the weather is favourable in every respect, but unfortunately they experience the same difficulty in getting the necessary appliances. The cargo boat which was towed down to the spot by the Victoria has been recovered. She drifted down to the Madras coast and is now on her way to Calcutta.—Englishman.

THE NORTH-WEST PROVINCES FEVER EPIDEMIC.

Now that India is overrun with Sanitary Commissioners, we should like to see a few facts and figures in connection with the fever that for the last two years has been devastating the N. W. P. and adjoining provinces. It is a great reflection upon the gentleman who is supposed to preside over the health of Sir George Couper's territories, that he has had nothing interesting to tell us on this subject—at least we have not been favoured with his views, neatly bound between buff or blue covers, though we have been anxiously looking out for them. It will be remembered that the mortality in Agra last year during the month of October exceeded 12 per mille (there were over 1,800 deaths to 150,000 inhabitants) a rate which, if continued for seven years, would extinguish the entire community! This year again the deaths for the same month of October amounted to nearly 1,400, a lower rate certainly than that of last season, but still quite enough to make one shudder at the prospect of its continuance. Moreover, if the testimony of the native is to be relied on, Agra has been singularly free from the terrible mortality from the fell scourge that is decimating the Canal districts of the Doab. We are told that the mortality at Jaleysar, for intance, which adjoins the Ganges Canal, is something terrific: at Meydoo, a large village adjoins the Hattras Road station, 70 deaths are reported in 700, while in Kasgunge on the north side of the Canal, a gang of coolies that used to work at a cotton-screw, is said to have lost no less than 6 out of 16 members. If this ratio holds good over any extent of country, land will be thrown out of cultivation, and the loss of revenue will probably awaken the official mind to the fact that a pestilence requires the direct attention of Government quite as much as a famine does, or an emute in Afghanistan. In real truth the prostration that is caused over the whole country from Kurrachee to Dinapore by the prevailing fever, is harder to be borne than even the expenses of the Afghan war. Trade has been completely paralysed in some localities, and the amount of goods handled at the terminal stations of the Rajputana Railway in Agra during the month of October is said to be less than in any previous month since the line has been opened. At present the stations on the same line are bare of cotton, although it is known that the adjoining villages still contain the remains of last year's crop; indeed, the movement of cotton throughout the country is arrested for want of hands to pick the pods from the trees, and to gin their contents after they have been picked. At the same time it must be admitted that the crops are abnormally late. Even now the pods are but half open, and are not ripe for the pickle, though the temperature more nearly resemble that of October than November. As we write (10.45 A. M.) the thermometer stands at 76°, or "Summer Heat," in a room with an eastern aspect; and warm clothes, though bearable, feel slightly heavy towards the afternoon. This exceptional mildness, though favourable to the crops, cotton especially, does not snuff out the fever so quickly as sharper weather would do, and there is as yet no permanent rally in the health of the population. Coolies are still able to command their own terms in the demand for able-bodied labour exceeding the supply, particularly now that the Government are really in earnest about completing the railways in the Punjab. The type of fever among the European part of the community is the low remittent one. For several days together the patient never gets thoroughly cool, though at certain hours the fever wanes and wanes with an obstinacy that defies all but the most potent remedies. There is no ague or shivering fit, but after the febrile symptoms have subsided, the convalescent requires both good food and warm clothing to enable him to recover; a common complaint with such persons being that "the room feels very cold," though to everybody else it feels quite the reverse. If such be the case with the well-fed, well-housed, and well-clad members of the European community, what must be the feeling with the native whose scanty clothing and indifferent food only serve at the best of times to keep soul and body together?—Delhi Gazette.
